TEN MORE ARE ADDED TO LIST

New Members to Chamber of Commerce Are Being Obtained by Members of Secondary Class.

SOME OF THEM IN FIRST CLASS

Postal Cards Will be Mailed Tonight to all Members Calling Attention to Organization.

Postal cards will be mailed tonight by the executive committee on organization to all members of the Chamber of Commerce notifying them that the organization meeting will be held at the court house assembly tomorrow night at eight o'clock.

The sole purpose of the meeting will be to elect a given number of directors for the Chamber. The directors will then organize the board by electing a president and treasurer and appointing a secretary at some future date which will be decided on by the board when it is made up.

It is urged by the executive committee and others interested in the organization that every member attend this meeting and participate in the gathering to the end that every member may have a voice in proceedings.

The membership list was increased by ten today, which brings the total now up to two hundred and twenty-one. No teams were out at work today, but some individual efforts were being made to add new members.

It is expected that a correspondingly large number will be added tomorrow. Not all of the new members which have joined since the secondary movement was started belong to that class. Many of them have come in under the first class.

Due to the energy and activity of the second class men the list has been shoved above the two hundred mark. They have been working diligently, and in addition to obtaining signatures from members of their own class, they have seen many men who should be in the first class and have obtained their signatures.

The secondary class, as has been explained before, includes all employees, and their dues are only twenty-five cents a month.

TEACHER ARRESTED.

(By United Press.)

Gary, Ind., Feb. 12.—Peter A. Spaulding, principal of the high school here, was arrested today on a warrant sworn out by the humane society charging assault and battery on Carl Wheelock, a student. The boy was not seriously hurt.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY.

(By United Press.)

Little Falls, N. Y., Feb. 12.—The official low record of 24 degrees below was recorded here today. It was 31 degrees below zero seven miles north of here.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY.

(By United Press.)

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 12.—Hunter Raine of the defunct Mercantile bank pleaded not guilty today to the charge of embezzlement.

DAY FITTINGLY OBSERVED

Although Banks Are Only Places to Close For Holiday.

The birthday of Abraham Lincoln was fittingly observed here today although the banks were the only business houses to close for the day. The postoffice does not observe Lincoln's birthday as a holiday and all city deliveries and rural deliveries were made as usual. The county offices were open throughout the day and Judge McGee did not adjourn court. A program was given this morning at the high school building. The day was a great occasion for many local Republicans who attended the Lincoln League meeting in Indianapolis.

MERCURY FLIRTS WITH ZERO MARK

Rushville and Rush County People Awake to Find Something That Was Not on the Schedule.

MODERATION IS PREDICTED

Rushville and Rush county people got something which was not on the program when they learned this morning that the mercury was flirting with zero. It arrived dangerously near that point on the thermometers, too. The lowest temperature reported was eight degrees above zero. The mercury rose very gradually throughout the day, but the weather man promises a slight moderation in temperature for tonight and tomorrow.

About an inch of snow fell during the night, and it was not on the schedule either. Farmers were glad to see the snow because it affords a covering for the wheat which has already been put to several severe tests.

LOW MARK IN NEW YORK.

(By United Press.)

New York, Feb. 12.—With a new record of two degrees below zero set for this winter, the New York poor sought the aid of charity today. One woman died from the severe cold. Two thousand women and children were sheltered at the municipal lodging house last night.

24 BELOW.

(By United Press.)

Little Falls, N. Y., Feb. 12.—The official low record of 24 degrees below was recorded here today. It was 31 degrees below zero seven miles north of here.

PLEADED NOT GUILTY.

(By United Press.)

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 12.—Hunter Raine of the defunct Mercantile bank pleaded not guilty today to the charge of embezzlement.

PROGRAM OPENS WITH A BANQUET

Gathering For Men Will be Initial Number on Church Efficiency Campaign Week After Next.

FOUR EXPERTS ARE COMING

They Will Deliver Lectures and Hold Conferences on Subjects of Immense Value to Churches.

The program has been arranged for the united missionary campaign for church efficiency which will be held here Tuesday and Wednesday, February 24 and 25. All of the Rushville Protestant churches will combine in the project.

Four men who are especially equipped for this work will spend the two days here and make the addresses. C. E. Tebbets was here this week and completed final arrangements for the campaign. The other three men who will be here are: W. C. Puddefoot, B. L. Kershner and H. P. Cochrane.

The two days' program will start Tuesday evening with a banquet for men. It will cost only thirty-five cents a plate. The special workers will be there and talk. Those who contemplate attending are urged to notify S. L. Trabue.

The morning session will open Wednesday promptly at ten o'clock. The conference subjects will be, "Missionary Education" and "The Missionary Committee of the Local Church." This session will be of special interest for Sunday school workers and others who are interesting in the young people. It is open, of course, to everyone.

The afternoon session will begin promptly at two o'clock. The conference subject at that time will be, "Prayer in Relation to Missions" and "The Efficiency Campaign." This conference will be of practical interest to church officers, but the public is generally invited.

The evening session will be held at seven-thirty o'clock. Vivid sketches will be given of home and foreign mission work by Dr. Puddefoot, the Rev. Mr. Cochrane and the Rev. Mr. Kershner. Dr. Tebbets will give an address on "World Vision" at this time.

Every church within reach of Rushville is requested to send delegates to this conference because the thoughts that will be presented by the specialists will be of lasting value. No collections will be taken at any of the services.

Wherever the team of special efficiency workers, which is coming here, has gone, its members have been received with the greatest enthusiasm and the churches have always been richly blessed. A number of guests from out-of-the-city are expected for the conference.

THREE CHEERS FOR LYNCH.

Newcastle Times: To the Republicans of the Sixth district this newspaper wishes to extend its congratulations and felicitations on the selection of P. Joseph Lynch, of this city, for district chairman. The new head is not only an astute politician, but a good business man and a gentleman of scholarly attainments. Whatever may be the outcome of the election, we know that Republicans of the district will enjoy their association with Mr. Lynch during the campaign.

Mrs. Helen Mitchel is ill at her home in east Second street.

BOARD ORDERS DOGS MUZZLED

Report Showed Signs of Rabies and Health Department Takes Action to Prevent Danger.

GIRLS TO TAKE TREATMENT

Florence Martin and Mamie Brock, Who Were Bitten Are Taken to Indianapolis.

All owners and harborers of dogs are hereby ordered to confine same or have them securely muzzled when on the street. All dogs running at large without muzzles in the city of Rushville will be killed by the police. This order will continue in force until further notice.

By order of the City Board of Health.

DR E. I. WOODEN
DR. C. H. PARSONS
DR. D. D. VANOSDOL

Following a report from the state board of health on the head of a dog, which bit Florence Martin, the ten-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eli Martin, and Mamie Brock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rude Brock, residents of the northwestern part of the city, which showed that it was suffering from rabies, the city board of health issued the above warning this afternoon.

The two girls, who are ten years old, were taken to Indianapolis this afternoon, where they will receive the Pasteur treatment from the state. While there is no great fear for a mad dog scare the city board of health thought it best as a precaution to order all dogs muzzled while on the street. The police have been instructed to kill all dogs found without muzzles running at large.

The two girls, who are ten years old, were taken to Indianapolis this afternoon, where they will receive the Pasteur treatment from the state. While there is no great fear for a mad dog scare the city board of health thought it best as a precaution to order all dogs muzzled while on the street. The police have been instructed to kill all dogs found without muzzles running at large.

The dog bit the two girls on the hand and while it was frothing at the mouth was not thought to be mad. To be on the safe side the head was sent to the state board of health for examination and was found to have been suffering from rabies.

The order of the city board of health is made under the law passed in 1911, which gives the board the power to make such an order. The report on the dog's head was received this morning.

The dog was a pet belonging to Carl Dishinger and had never caused any trouble before. Last Saturday morning it snapped at the Martin girl and broke the skin on her hand. On the same day the Brock girl was bitten. It is not known whether the dog bit any other animal or not, but the health board did not like to take a chance and ordered all dogs muzzled or confined.

The treatment to be given the two girls requires twenty-eight days and will be given by the state. The parents of the two girls do not feel greatly alarmed over the outcome. The officers will watch closely for dogs showing signs of suffering from rabies in an effort to prevent a further spread.

HEART DISEASE IS FATAL

Funeral of Enos Bell Will be Held at Home Tomorrow.

The funeral services of Enos Bell, age sixty-one years, who died at his home in Spiceland Tuesday night very suddenly, will be held from the home tomorrow at two o'clock, with the Rev. Mr. Holding officiating. The deceased was unmarried and lived with his sister. He was the manager of the Paper shade factory at Spiceland. Heart failure was the cause of his demise. The sister and a brother, Henry county assessor, are the only survivors.

VERDICT FAVORED THE DEFENDANT

Jury Out Only Short Time and Found For George Bell in Case Brought by Peckinbaugh.

ONE SUIT WAS DISMISSED

The jury found for George Bell this afternoon in the case on a warranty brought against him by Felix Peckinbaugh of Henry county. Peckinbaugh alleged that the horse he purchased at the Bell sale did not prove to be what Bell stated and he demanded $150. The jury was out only a few minutes and took only one ballot in reaching a verdict.

The case started yesterday morning and a large number of witnesses testified. Peckinbaugh alleged that the horse was sold to him and warranted to be sound and claimed that instead of being sound it was diseased. The closing arguments started this morning at eleven o'clock and ended shortly after two this afternoon.

The case of Durrell Brothers against John J. Reardon, on an account, demanding $185 was dismissed this morning and the costs paid by the plaintiff.

DRAMATIC SCENES IN COURT TODAY

Attorney for Walter Runyan Twice Interrupted During Argument and Told he Stated Falsehoods.

JURY MAY GET CASE MONDAY

(By United Press.)
Crawfordsville, Ind., Feb. 12.—Two dramatic interruptions to the Walter Runyan murder trial came today during the argument of Clyde Jones, an attorney for the defense. He had said that Peter Flannigan of South Bend, football player and friend of Arlie Stull's, had told him in his office that Stull had two guns in his hand.

"That is not so," shouted Flannigan from the court room. There was an uproar for a few minutes until order could be restored.

When Jones declared that John Stull, father of Arlie Stull, had killed a man, Stull jumped to his feet, livid with rage.

"That is wrong," he asserted vehemently. "I did shoot a man, but it was an accident while hunting."

Mrs. Eliza Smith, sister of Juror Edwards, died today as the result of a fall. Court will adjourn Saturday afternoon to allow Edwards to attend the funeral. The case will get to the jury probably next Monday.

WILL H. HAYS IS NEW CHAIRMAN

SULLIVAN MAN ELECTED HEAD OF REPUBLICAN STATE COMMITTEE AT MEETING THIS AFTERNOON.

OPPOSITION DISAPPEARS

FORMER GOVERNOR OF KENTUCKY SPEAKS AT LOVE FEAST THIS AFTERNOON—BANQUET TONIGHT.

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 12.—Will H. Hays of Sullivan was elected Republican state chairman this afternoon. Opposition to him vanished prior to the meeting of the state committee. John W. McCordle of Indianapolis withdrew from the race because, he said, his affairs would take him away from Indianapolis.

While the state committee was in session at the Claypool this afternoon, a love feast was being held at Tomlinson hall where the party rank and file was addressed by Augustus E. Wilson, former governor of Kentucky. Bad weather cut down the attendance, but many Republicans arrived from all parts of the state.

Besides Mr. McCordle, other candidates mentioned for the chairmanship were: Frank Gingleton of Martinsville; Webb Woodfill of Greensburg; Elam H. Neal of Marion; John Moorman of Knox and John D. Bryson of Brazil. Mr. Sims has announced that he would not accept the position again.

It was Mr. Sims' opinion that the date for the state convention probably would not be fixed today, though it was possible to do so.

This is the climax of a week devoted to total reorganization of the Republican party in Indiana. With the close of today the party will be spick and span, ready for active work. New officials and workers will be in harness from the precinct committeeman to the state chairman. Today began with a meeting

Lincoln

On the anniversary of Lincoln's birthday it is fitting to draw a business text from his wonderful life.

"I am always for the man who works," he said—and his life fulfilled his words.

He believed in his country and that there was no limit to its great possibilities.

This same spirit is driving men forward to great achievements all over America.

Temporary setbacks do not dim the spirit of progress.

We of the United States and Canada are a nation of optimists. We believe the rewards come to those workers who earn them.

No literature that is written today is so typical of the country and its spirit as the advertisements which appear from day to day in the live newspapers.

They are the voice of the worker calling on the world to come and see what he has done.

The reading of the advertising is in keeping with the spirit of Lincoln's whole life—the encouragement of the worker.

IS NOT HARD TO TELL CHOLERA

Department of Agriculture States That Matter of Diagnosis is Not Difficult With Hogs.

90 PER CENT DIE OF DISEASE

Suggestions Given Farmer to Aid In Early Recognition of Conditions Physically

[Special to the Daily Republican.]

Washington, February 12.—The Department of Agriculture is in receipt of frequent inquiries concerning methods for distinguishing hog cholera from other swine diseases. The specialists in hog-cholera investigations answer these inquiries as follows:

Although at first thought this matter of diagnosis appears to be of prime importance, in reality it is not so important or so difficult as it seems. It is estimated that at least 90 per cent. of all deaths of hogs from disease in the United States are caused by hog cholera. Therefore, in the case of any fatal outbreak the chances are about nine to one that the cause is hog cholera. It is true that other infections may and do frequently complicate outbreaks of hog cholera, but in such cases the germ of hog cholera is the primary cause of the disease; and if we can take care of the germ of hog cholera the pig will usually overcome the other infections himself.

The symptoms exhibited by hogs sick of hog cholera are not sufficiently distinct from those produced by other maladies, so that a positive diagnosis can be made only through a careful consideration of a number of other factors in connection with the symptoms. From a practical standpoint the important thing is to recognize hog cholera as soon as possible after its appearance in a herd in order that antihog-cholera serum may be applied before the disease progresses too far. Good serum may be depended upon to protect well hogs, and even to cure a large percentage of those in the earliest stages of the disease, but it will not be of much avail when used upon hogs that are already visibly sick.

The following suggestions to farmers are offered as an aid to the early recognition of hog cholera in a herd:

1. Keep posted concerning the condition and health of hogs on other farms in your neighborhood. Sick hogs on a neighboring farms are a positive menace, for the germs of hog cholera are easily carried on the feet of men or animals.

2. Look over your herd regularly in order that any sick hogs may be promptly discovered.

3. If any hogs in the herd are found to be "off feed" or appear in anywise sick, separate them immediately from the remainder of the herd and keep them and the main herd under close observation daily. If there is a tendency for the disease to spread in the herd, the trouble is probably hog cholera. This diagnosis may be confirmed by killing one of the sick animals and examining the organs in the manner described in Farmers' Bulletin 379.

4. When the first symptoms of sickness are observed, an immediate change of feed sometimes corrects the trouble. This is particularly true of swill-fed hogs.

5. If there is any tendency for the disease to spread in the herd, do not temporize, but immediately treat the herd with serum form the State college or State live stock sanitary board. Prompt administration of the serum is essential to success.

6. Remember that hog cholera kills millions of hogs where other diseases kill thousands. Dismiss from your mind all thought of such diseases as "lung plague," "infectious pneumonia," "pig typhoid," etc. for these are generally merely fanciful designations given to hog cholera by uninformed men.

S. D. HOLINGER.

Chosen City Manager of President's Birthplace, Staunton, Va.

FORCED TO GIVE UP
IMPORTANT OFFICEFoe of Crooked Dealers Is Crowded Out.

Indianapolis, Feb. 12.—Realizing nothing could be gained by fighting efforts to remove him from office, because there is no appeal from any verdict the board of safety might give in a hearing of charges against him, Isidor Wulfson, city inspector of weights and measures, submitted his resignation to the board. Mayor Bell said that charges were to be filed against him, but declined to say what they would be. It was expected the board would appoint Herman F. Adam, a ward committeeman, to succeed Wulfson.

The legislature last year amended the law to provide that inspectors could not be removed for political reasons and only after an opportunity for hearing on charges had been given. The legislature, however, failed to provide for an appeal from the decision of the board.

Wulfson was appointed in 1906 by Mayor Bookwalter. At that time the office had not gained much prominence but Wulfson at once began to make it one of the important features of the city government. From the meager allowance made each year he added new equipment until the department is now recognized as the standard in the United States. Similar departments in many important cities of the United States and Europe have been established on plans supplied by Wulfson.

It has been Wulfson's particular pride that the hour was never too early or too late, or the weather too cold for him to go on the trail of the crooked peddler, ice man or coal man. The "foe" was never too big and he prosecuted the Standard Oil company and other large corporations as quickly as he did the insignificant peddler who was trying to add to his income by using fraudulent scales or measures.

Wulfson organized the Housewives' Protective association. He taught housewives to keep scales and measures in their kitchens to protect themselves against frauds. He also taught them to order purchases by weight or measure instead of by the "quarter's worth." Wulfson also conducted a successful fight for a law compelling merchants to sell by weight or measure except where it was customary to sell by numerical count, such as boxes of matches, loaves of bread, etc. He was also instrumental in obtaining the passage of the law creating the state department of weights and measures.

Body Found Frozen in Field.

Mitchell, Ind., Feb. 12.—Enos Pruitt died of exposure, according to the finding of the coroner. He had been missing from his home near Salem since Jan. 31, and when his frozen body was found in a field near here it was thought he had been murdered. The money Pruitt obtained in a sale of lumber on the day he was last seen was found in his clothing.

Indications are that President Wilson's bill proposing a presidential primary law will be sidetracked for the session.

Santiago and the entire eastern part of Cuba were shaken by a severe earthquake. Many persons were thrown from their beds, but there was no loss of life and the damage to property was slight.

President Wilson has taken the first steps in his attempt to pave the way for the passage through the senate of a bill repealing that section of the Panama canal act which exempts the American coastwise vessels from the payment of tolls.

Everyone Should Help.

It behoves every member of the Chamber of Commerce to take part in the organization meeting which will be held in the court house assembly room Friday night. Since the membership has been obtained, the Chamber of Commerce will become now just what we of Rushville want to make it.

The nominating committee will prepare a list of directors and it is the duty of every member of the Chamber to attend the meeting and express his or her opinion both as to number of directors and to personnel. Much of the business of the organization will be transacted by the directors and it is important that men who have the interests of their city at heart be on the board.

The Chamber of Commerce now depends on individuals working as a unit. It has been proved so often that it is the tritest phase known to man—that in unity only is there strength. There is no argument opposing such a truth. Only by working together as a whole can the individuals of Rushville make this a better town.

It is true that there are some individuals in Rushville out of the organization who should be in it. This is ever the case and always will be. There are always a few persons in every community who are willing to sit back and reap the benefits that others work and pay for, but they, too, eventually, will see where they have been unfair in their opinions.

The organization should start out with a feeling in the heart of each individual member of charity for all and malice toward no one. It is quite the patent fact—and no one is going to attempt to deny it—that here has been some ill-timed and very disagreeable opposition to the movement. It is best for the organization that each member forget this unpleasant circumstance and work for the good of the Chamber of Commerce.

There is no fair person who will not admit that the Chamber of Commerce has a more formidable membership to start with than any other similar movement in Rushville ever had, and this alone should insure its eventual success, for only in numbers is strength.

Special credit is due many young men in Rushville who are employed in local business houses and have given their time in the membership canvass. They have evinced a spirit in the undertaking that bespeaks for the younger generation in Rushville an enterprise that brooks no hindrance.

To be sure, there are a small number of older gentlemen whose hair has been grayed by business experience, who hold up their hands in holy horror at the very suggestion of the activity of the young man in such enterprises, but we shall hope that they show they are in earnest about the undertaking and prove conclusively that the business men of tomorrow have some interest in their own future.

The county seat city in Indiana without a commercial organization is the rare exception, and Rushville is one of them. It develops upon the membership of the Chamber of Commerce to make it good.

of the Lincoln League this morning and will close tonight with a banquet of Republican editors in the Claypool. They will be addressed by Congressman Wm. E. Humphreys of Seattle.

At the love feast this afternoon Mr. Wilson eulogized Abraham Lincoln, not only as the patriot but as the first Republican president of the United States. He also flayed the present Democratic administration. Speaking in part Mr. Wilson said:

"This is the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, the first Republican president of the United States. The Republican party has won from him the greatest honor and the chance for glory which is his and he gave back to his country and the Republican party the greatest blessings.

"We of Kentucky, where he was born on the twelfth day of February, you, in Indiana where his boyhood was passed and our neighbors of Illinois, where his lifework was done up to his presidency and where he sleeps his last sleep, have each our special local reasons to love and honor him, and proved that he was our own. But there never can be a monopoly on the life and character, much less the sayings or principles of Abraham Lincoln. We shall not like some distinguished men, acclaim ourselves as the only true followers of Abraham Lincoln, nor claim for selfish ends the name and the life which belongs to all mankind all time and in all lands.

"In his Gettysburg speech, the dearest, best beloved and noblest words that ever fell from human lips, he made the appeal to his country which I say after him now as a sacred patriotic service which should be said on this anniversary to the end of time as the pledge and dedication of every citizen to our country forever.

"I am a Republican; not a differentiated, sorted out or any special brand of Republican, but just a plain Republican, one of seven millions of citizens who elected Roosevelt and Taft and who care a hundred times more for the Republican party than for either or both of them put together—if they can be put together.

"The Republican party is human, as well as humane, and not infallible but it was and is rich in glory, rich in honorable ambitions, high hopes, practical, every-day, hard-headed sense; great in wisdom, energy instructive statesmanship and last and greatest, in patriotic faith, hope and courage in the work of saving and building up the greatest, richest harvest, happiest and best country that ever blessed mankind.

"The Democratic party, as an organization, has been the victim of every political crank, the heir of every impossible theory of government and the awful example of every serious political mistake in our times and it gets worse all the time.

It hugged the monster of slavery to its breast in this land of liberty and for every drop of blood drawn from the lash we paid one drawn by the sword. It became the missionary of free trade between our country of high wages and the rest of the world on one-half our wages, and not Andrew Jackson nor Grover Cleveland, nor yet Woodrow Wilson have been able to make a silk purse out of a sow's ear.

"The old southern Democratic party is in full charge of the government of the union with a severe Democrat as president and a Democratic congress and cabinet, both controlled by the South, just as they were before the war, and we have a democratic lower tariff bill in effect, a high income tax and a dangerous democratic paper money inflation bill just going into operation and a federal business commission about to put over regardless of the states rights that our souther friends used to be so anxious about.

"We all know how it came to pass. The citizens who voted against the Democratic party were a great majority. The trouble was that the Republican party family quarrel was so bitter that they divided the majority vote. I was not

Michigan City and Indiana Harbor Receive $23,600 of Harbors and Rivers Appropriation.

$43,227,504 IS AGGREGATE SUM

Several Millions of This Amount Will Be Used in Constructing Levees Along Mississippi.

(By United Press.)

Washington, February 12—Northern Indiana points are the only ones in that state affected by the harbors and river appropriation bill just made public today. Indiana Harbor gets $25,000 and Michigan City gets $48,600.

The principal projects provided for are the improvement of the Mississippi by the construction of levees from Cape Girardeau, Missouri to Rock Island, Illinois at a cost of several million dollars; improvement in the greater New York harbor ultimately to cost $13,400,000 and the immediate purchase of the Chesapeake Bay and Delaware canal for $1,300,000.

The total appropriation aggregated $43,227,504. The Ohio river general canal gets $350,000 and its locks and dams get $5,000,000 listed under the head of the state of Ohio. The Monongahela river gets $178,000.

Palmer Child Labor Bill is Step to Free Children From Hard Labor

Washington, Feb. 12.—The introduction of the Palmer child labor bill according to Mrs. Florence Kelly, member of the board of trustees of the National Child Labor Committee, is a long step forward in the fight to free children from factories and send them to school. The bill, which proposes to prohibit interstate commerce in goods produced by children under fourteen years of age, or by children under sixteen who have worked more than eight hours a day is declared to be the most important of any similar bills that have been introduced. Mrs. Kelly, has prepared the following article explaining why this is so:

BY MRS. FLORENCE KELLEY.

(Written for United Press.)

The child labor bill introduced in Congress by Representative A. Mitchell Palmer of Pennsylvania, on January 20, last, is more comprehensive than the Kenyon bill in which hitherto I have been deeply interested. It applies to manufacturing establishments, factories, mines and quarries, mills, canneries and workshops. It is more extensive than the Kenyon bill in that it regulates the employment of children between the ages of 14 and 16 years, restricting their working hours to eight in one day and to the daylight hours from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Like the Kenyon Bill it applies to interstate commerce.

The enforcement of the proposed law is made the duty of each district attorney to whom the Secretary of Labor shall report any violation. It is quite new providing that prosecutions must be begun when a state factory inspector, commissioner of labor, state medical inspector, school attendance officer or any other person shall present satisfactory evidence of a violation of the law. The penalty provided is a fine of not more than $1,000 nor less than $100 or imprisonment of not less nor more than one year or both such fine and imprisonment.

The bill marks a long advance over the proposals contained in both the Kenyon Bill and the old Beveridge Bill because it applies to a wider range of employments, and to older children (between 14 and 16) such a law cannot interfere with street work, such as newspaper vending, peddling, boot-blacking, and service as delivery boys on wagons, which have to be dealt with by state laws or municipal ordinances. Furthermore, there are certain dangerous trades which by a score of existing state laws have been forbidden to all children under 16 years or 18 years. The only feasible attempt to touch upon this important point by federal legislation is the prohibition of work in mines and quarries by children under 16 years.

Such a provision is included in the Palmer Bill but no protection is afforded to children in other dangerous trades for dangerous machines and various occupations involving the lives of others are not and could not be included.

We have an analogy in the case of the Pure Food Law. The states and cities have never been so stimulated to enact and enforce legislation with regard to foods prepared for sale within their own borders as since the enactment of the Pure Food and Drugs Law, and there is every reason to believe that the proposed federal child labor law would work in the same way.

I believe that the educational work of the National Child Labor Committee will be found to have entered upon a new phase more valuable than all the good campaigns that it has hitherto carried on.

States whose statutes are good on paper only will receive a new stimulus to the enforcement of their laws. And refractory states such as West Virginia and the great cotton manufacturing communities of the South will receive a challenge they cannot ignore through this aggressive attack upon the sham laws which disgrace their statute books.

SHELBYVILLE IS VICTORIOUS HERE

High School Basketball Team From Shelby County Seat Wins Game Wednesday Night, 21 to 13.

THE FIRST HALF ENDS 12 TO 8

Rushville Will go to Franklin Friday Night For Game—Defeated Here by This Quintet.

The Rushville high school basketball team, in one of the most intensely interesting games of the season, lost to the Shelbyville high school aggregation at the Graham school building gymnasium last night, 21 to 13. The game was hard fought and it was anybody's game until the last few minutes of play.

The first half ended 12 to 8 in favor of the visitors and the Rushville five started into the second half like it intended to duplicate the performance of last Friday night when it won from Connerville in the last half, but the odds were against Rushville and the visitors' play was too brilliant.

The Rushville guards, Shannahan and Frazier, showed to advantage in the game last night and assisted materially in keeping the score down as low as it was. The local forwards also played a consistent game, making a good share of the shots they had at the basket.

The Shelbyville five, as a whole, is a good-going team because the five men worked like clockwork when they were in possession of the ball. There was no particular star on the whole team, unless it was Billingsley, who threw four field goals very easily.

Rushville will play Franklin at Franklin Friday night. This team has already defeated the Rushville five, but the squad is going from here with the determination of winning in any event. The Franklin game was the first one of the season of the local high school.

The summary:

Rushville	Shelbyville
Position	Billingsley
Hinkle	Forward.
Farthing	Rockafellow
Webb	Marshall
Shannahan	Center.
Frazier	Farley
Guard	McKay
Guard

Rushville—field goals: Hinkle, 3; Farthing, 2; foul goals, Hinkle 3; Shelbyville—field goals: Billingsley, 4; Rockafellow, 3; Marshall, 2; our goals: Rockafellow, 2; Marshall, 1.

STORY OF CASTILLO EXECUTION A FAKE

Declared Today Bandit Who is Responsible For Cumbre Disaster is Recruiting His Forces

GENERAL VILLA ADMITS THIS

(By United Press.)

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 12.—That the telegrams received yesterday stating Maximo Castillo, the bandit responsible for the Cumbre tunnel disaster, had been executed, with his following, was a fake and that the bandit is still at large, was the assertion made today by Amelio Garcia, who is detained by United States troops.

Garcia was a member of the Cumbre tunnel bandit band. He said he had private information that Castillo is recruiting forces in northern Mexico to continue his campaign against Huerta. General Villa, the Rebel leader, practically admitted today that the story that Castillo was captured was untrue.

GAME AT MILROY WAS VERY ROUGH

"Hop" Thomas, Star of Eureka Team Sustained Broken Leg in Game With New Salem.

SALEMITES WON, 29 TO 25

In an exceedingly rough and hard-fought game of basket ball at Milroy last night between the New Salem Independents and the Milroy Eurekas, the former team was victorious by the score of 29 to 25. The game was a rough and tumble affair from the time the game started till it ended.

"Hop" Thomas, Milroy's star guard fell while "bucking" for the ball with one of the Salemites and broke his left leg, just at the ankle. It seems that Thomas is unlucky in the game as he fell about three years ago, and broke a leg in much the same manner. His place was filled by Hatlerman, substitute, but the accident had taken all the "pep" out of the Milroy boys and everyone was glad to see the game finished. Thomas is well known here having played on the local floor at various times.

The curtain raiser was played between the second Eurekas and the Blue Ridge independents, and resulted in a victory for the Eurekas by a score of 22 to 15. This game was featured by the basket work of Halterman, center for Milroy.

The Eurekas will take on the fast Newcastle Independents at Milroy, Wednesday night.

GUNMEN STILL HOLD SWAY IN GOTHAM, IT IS PROVED

Seven Loot Restaurant Patrons of $4,000 and Fatally Stab Italian Who Had Shot One of Them.

(By United Press.)

New York, Feb. 12.—That the gunmen still rule in Gotham was demonstrated when seven of them, armed with guns, slug shot and knives, looted patrons of the Tripoli restaurant of $4,000 last night and fatally stabbed Anthony Celencano, an Italian. Three of them were caught. The Italian had recently shot a gunman. A bandit plunged a knife into the Italian as he sat at a table with his wife.

Detective Testifies at Strike Investigation at Denver.

(By United Press.)

Denver, Colo., Feb. 12.—That the same machine gun, which was used by detectives in the West Virginia coal strike, was imported into the Southern Colorado coal fields and used there was testified to today by A. B. Felts before the congressional committee inquiring into the coal strike here. Felts is the Colorado manager of the detective agency that used the gun in West Virginia. Felts declared he had imported about "four rapid fire guns to defend life and property." He was questioned concerning the so called "death special," an armored auto used by officers.

ARGUES FOR COMPETITION

President Charles R. Van Hise of Wisconsin Uni., Speaks to National Chamber of Commerce.

SUPPORTS WILSON'S STAND

Only Enough Concentration in Business to Produce Efficiency Should be Allowed, He Advises.

(By United Press.)

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—Staunchly supporting the position of President Wilson that monopolies should be smashed, President Charles R. Van Hise, of the University of Wisconsin, addressing the National Chamber of Commerce, today argued, that while all unfair practices should be eliminated, competition should be retained. He stated that up to the present time, little, if any, advantage has accrued to the public because of the dissolution of various combinations.

"Concentration in industry," said Van Hise, "is necessary to give efficiency, and that degree of concentration should be allowed. However, if we retain freedom of competition, permit concentration sufficient to give efficiency, allow reasonable co-operation, and prevent monopoly, regulation of industries by the government will be necessary, just as it has been found necessary to regulate the railroads. This done the Sherman law will be forgotten."

"No advantage has been shown, from dissolution of public utility corporations under the Sherman Act, which are already under control of the state and national commissions. These are illustrated by the American Telephone and Telegraph company and the Union Pacific-Southern Pacific merger. On the contrary, there is every likelihood that the public will suffer from dissolution of such organizations."

"My proposal is that restraint of trade, either by combination or contract, and co-operation in limitation of profit, division of territory, or fixing of prices, be prohibited so far as they are inimical to the welfare until approved by the trade commission. But when any act of co-operation has been approved by the commission it should be free from attack. By this simple expedient the situation will become cleared and co-operation for all classes of business will be allowed to continue, so far as it is not inimical to the public welfare."

President Van Hise said that he did not believe that the interstate trade commission, as proposed, in a bill now before the House would help the situation much, even though its powers might be increased.

"It is necessary," he declared, "that an act be passed to supplement the Sherman act, because the supreme court has not handed down any decisions which make it clear the extent to which co-operation will be permitted as reasonable."

President Van Hise said that interstate and state trade commissioners permitting reasonable co-operation, would have the following benefits:

1. The efficiency which goes with industrial magnitude will be secured and the resultant profits made fairly distributed between producer and consumer.

2. The farmers' co-operative movement will become lawful.

3. Labor organizations will be free to act in all legitimate ways.

4. Exploitation of the natural resources may be carried on in harmony with the principles of conservatism.

WOMAN TELLS A SENSATIONAL TALE

Mrs. Minnie Bond Details Alleged Assault of Senator Gore on Her at Washington Hotel.

SOME EVIDENCE AGAINST HER

(By United Press.)

Oklahoma City, Feb. 12.—Mrs. Minnie Bond of this city today told from the witness stand of the alleged attempt of United States Senator Gore, the blind senator, to assault her in the Winston hotel, Washington, D. C., a year ago. She bases her fifty thousand dollar damage suit on this story.

Under a revision of a former ruling, the court allowed attorneys for Gore to question Mrs. Bond concerning her former life and some very damaging evidence to the plaintiff's case was brought out.

Mrs. Bond told in a calm voice a highly sensational story of the alleged assault. She detailed, without a quaver in her voice, how the interruption of a Mr. Robertson ended the assault and how Gore followed her and attempted to get her to say nothing had happened. She said she first met Gore in 1913.

FATHER ADMITS HIS FAULT

Why the Prosecutor Nolled Indictment Against Dr. Hanley.

Terre Haute, Ind., Feb. 12.—It is now known why Richard Werneke, prosecuting attorney, nolled the indictment against Dr. E. A. Hanley, president of Franklin college, who was accused of whipping his aged father at the old home south of this city last September. The father wrote to the prosecutor telling how the son had helped support his parents for many years; how he had always been kind and thoughtful; how the writer for many years had been cruel to the mother, who often remonstrated, and that in the last few years his treatment had grown worse.

He admitted using vulgar and obscene language in the presence of the aged woman and the wife of another son from Indianapolis then visiting the home for the first time, and that when Dr. Hanley entreated him to be more respectful he refused to do so. When he was asked to admit he was wrong he refused to do that, whereupon Dr. Hanley whipped him. The father closes the letter saying the son was justified.

"Dead" Man Gets Up.
Columbus, Ind., Feb. 12.—When W. C. Ardery became sick suddenly and fell on the sidewalk people thought he was dead and sent for an undertaker. The undertaker summoned the coroner, and when that officer arrived he found Ardery getting to his feet and starting away.

Missing Man Frozen in Pond.
Evansville, Ind., Feb. 12.—The body of David McFarland, aged fifty-two, who disappeared from the county farm, was found frozen in the ice in a pond a few miles west of here. It is believed he accidentally fell into the pond and was drowned.

Track Walker Killed.
Winchester, Ind., Feb. 12.—William Whistler, aged fifty-five, a plasterer, was instantly killed when struck by a Big Four train at Union City. He was walking on the track. He is survived by a widow and five children.

The senate has passed a bill providing a method for electing senators to fill vacancies that may occur prior to the time when the legislatures in the several states may make the necessary provision by statute for direct election in accordance with the seventeenth amendment to the federal constitution.

His Chief Objection.
Turning to the newspaper reporter, who was his passenger, the aviator exclaimed:

"It's all off; the propeller is broken, and we are doomed to fall 6,000 feet!"

"Great guns!" cried the reporter. "I hope we don't fall into the water. I can't swim a stroke!"—Lippincott's.

Strength In the Arms.
Equality of strength in both arms occurs almost twice as frequently with women as with men, more men than women being stronger in the right arm than in the left.

CHAPTER XVI.

The Michaelovitch Diamonds.

NOW, I perceived that the drawer was filled with little rolls of cotton, which had been pressed into it quite tightly. M. Pigot removed the first of these, unrolled it and spread it out upon the desk, and instantly we caught the glint of diamonds—diamonds so large, so brilliant, so faultlessly white that I drew a deep breath of admiration. Even M. Pigot, evidently as he prided himself upon his imperturbability, could not look upon those gems wholly unmoved. A slow color crept into his cheeks as he gazed down at them, and he picked up one or two of the larger ones to admire them more closely. Then he unfolded roll after roll, stopping from time to time for a look at the larger brilliants.

"These are from the famous necklace which the grand duke inherited from his grandmother," he said, calling our attention to a little pile of marvelous gems in one of the last packets. "Not one of these brilliants would be marketable in Europe for many years. Each of them is a marked gem. Here in America your police regulations are not so complete, but I fancy that even here he would have had difficulty in marketing this one." And he unfolded the last packet and held up to the light a rose diamond which seemed to me as large as a walnut and aglow with lovely color.

"Perhaps you have stopped to admire the Mazarin diamond in the gallery of Apollo at the Louvre," said M. Pigot. "There is always a crowd about that case, and a special attendant is installed there to guard it, for it contains articles of great value. But the Mazarin is not one of them, for it is not a diamond at all; it is paste—a paste facsimile of which this is the original. The directors of the Louvre, needing money, sold the original to the empress of Russia, who had a craze for precious stones and who at her death left this remarkable collection to her favorite son, who had inherited her passion. And now," he added, with a gesture toward the glittering heaps, "what shall we do with all this?"

"There's only one thing to do," said Grady, awaking suddenly as from a trance, "and that's to get them in a safe deposit box as quick as possible. There's no police safe I'd trust with 'em."

"Can we find a box of safe deposit at this hour of the night?" asked M. Pigot, glancing at his watch. "It is almost 1 o'clock and a half."

"That's easy in New York," said Grady. "We'll take 'em over to the Day and Night bank on Fifth avenue. It never closes. Wait till I get something to put 'em in."

He went out and came back presently with a small valise.

"This will do," he said. "Stow 'em away, and I'll call up the bank and arrange for the box."

Simmonds and Pigot rolled up the packets carefully and placed them in the valise, while I sat watching them in a kind of daze. And I understood the temptation which would assail a man in the presence of so much beauty and value.

"There they are," said Simmonds and closed the bag with a snap as Grady came in again.

"I've arranged for the box," said Grady, "and one of our wagons is at the door. Simmonds, you go along with Moosseer Piggott and put an extra man on the seat with the driver. Maybe that Crochard might try to hold you up."

The same thought was in my own mind, for Crochard must have learned of M. Pigot's arrival. So I was relieved that Grady was wise enough to take no risk.

"You'd better get a receipt," Grady went on, "and arrange that the valise is to be delivered only when you and Moosseer Piggott appear together. That will be satisfactory, moosseer?" he added, turning to the Frenchman.

"Entirely so, sir. Au revoir, monsieur," and with a bow to me he followed Simmonds into the outer room. Grady sat down and got out a fresh cigar.

"Well, Mr. Lester," he said as he struck a match, "what do you think of these Frenchmen, anyway?"

"They're marvelous," I said. "Even yet I can't understand how he knew so much. For instance, how did he know about those letters?"

"Fact is," broke in Grady, "that's the first I'd heard of 'em. What is that?"

I told him the story briefly, carefully suppressing everything which would give him a clew to the identity of the veiled lady.

"There were certain details," I added, "which I supposed were known to no one except myself and two other persons, and yet M. Pigot knew them. Then again, how did he know so certainly just how the mechanism worked? It seemed to me that he handled that mechanism as though he was familiar with it. Of course, he may have prepared himself by studying the drawings which no doubt accompany the secret memoir. He may even have had a working model made. He is an extraordinary man."

"And a great actor," Grady supplemented. "Hello! Who's that?"

The front door had been flung open. There was an instant's colloquy with the desk sergeant, then a rapid step crossed the outer room, and Godfrey burst in upon us.

He cast a rapid glance at the Boule cabinet, at the secret drawer standing open, empty, and then his eyes rested upon Grady.

"So he got away with it, did he?" he inquired.

"Who do you think you are?" shouted Grady, his face purple, "coming in here like this? Get out or I'll have you thrown out!"

"Oh, I'll go," retorted Godfrey coolly. "I've seen all I care to see. Only I'll tell you one thing, Grady—you've signed your own death warrant tonight! You won't last an hour after the story of this night's work gets out!"

Grady's color slowly faded as he met the burning and contemptuous gaze Godfrey turned upon him. As for me, an awful fear had gripped my heart.

"Do you mean to say it wasn't Pigot?" stammered Grady, at last.

Godfrey laughed scornfully.

"No, you blithering idiot!" he said. "It wasn't Pigot. It was Crochard himself!"

And he stalked out, slamming the door behind him.

Almost before the echo of that slamming door had died away Grady was beside the sergeant's desk.

"Get out the reserves," he ordered. "And have the other wagon around. Phone headquarters to rush every man available to the Day and Night bank, and say it's from me!"

In a moment the reserves came tumbling out, struggling into their coats. There was a clatter of hoofs in the street as the wagon dashed up. The reserves piled into it, permitting me to crowd in beside them. Grady jumped ed to the seat beside the driver.

I clung to the hand rail as the wagon swayed back and forth or bounded into the air as it struck the car tracks, and stared out into the night, struggling to understand. Could Godfrey be right?

But of course he was right! Some intuition told me that. At the bank we found Simmonds lying on his back, his eyes open and staring apparently at the ceiling.

Grady elbowed his way savagely through the group.

"Where's Kelly?" he demanded.

At the words a white faced man in uniform arose from a chair into which he had plainly dropped exhausted.

"Oh, there you are!" and Grady glowered at him ferociously. "Now tell me what happened—and tell it quick!"

"Why, sir," stammered Kelly, "there wasn't anything happened. Only when we stopped out there at the curb and I got down and opened the door, there wasn't nobody in the wagon but Mr. Simmonds. I spoke to him and he didn't answer—and then I touched him and he kind of fell over—and then I rushed in here and phoned the station; but they said you'd already started for the bank; and then we went out and brought him in here—and that's all I know, sir."

"Mr. Simmonds had a little valise with him. Did you notice it?"

"Yes, sir. And I looked for it in the wagon, but it ain't there."

Grady turned away with a curse as four or five men ran in from the street—the men from headquarters, I told myself. I could hear him talking to them in sharp, low tones, and then they departed as suddenly as they had come.

The reserves also hurried away, and I concluded that Grady was trying to throw a net about the territory in which the fugitive was probably concealed. But my interest in that mannequin was overshadowed for the time being by my anxiety for Simmonds. I picked up his right hand and looked at it. Then I drew a deep breath of relief, for it was uninjured.

"Has any one sent for a doctor?" I asked.

"Yes, sir," one of the bank attaches answered. "We telephoned for one at once. Here he is now!" he added, as a little black bearded man entered, carrying the inevitable identifying medicine case.

"I've arranged for the box," said Grady, "and one of our wagons is at the door. Simmonds, you go along with Moosseer Piggott and put an extra man on the seat with the driver. Maybe that Crochard might try to hold you up."

The same thought was in my own mind, for Crochard must have learned of M. Pigot's arrival. So I was relieved that Grady was wise enough to wave us back, fell on one knee, stripped away the clothing from the breast and applied his ear to the heart.

"Let's have some water," he said. "He's had a taste or whiff of something that has stopped the heart action."

"With a queer, creepy feeling over my scalp, I remembered the little flask half full of blood red liquid which Crochard carried in his pocket.

But he had not meant murder this time. I remembered that Godfrey had said he never killed an adversary. The doctor worked away briskly, and at the end of a few minutes Simmonds drew a long breath and sat erect. Then his eyes opened, and he sat swaying unsteadily and staring amazedly about him.

"Where am I?" he gasped. Then his eyes encountered mine. "Lester!" he said. "Where is he—Pigot?"

Scarcely knowing what I did I groped my way to the telephone and asked for Godfrey's number, hoping against hope absurdly, and at last, to my intense surprise and relief, I heard his voice, not a very amiable voice.

"I tried to get you," I explained, "as soon as Simmonds told me they were going to look at the cabinet. I phoned the office. The city editor said he had sent you out to Westchester."

Godfrey laughed shortly.

"It was a wild goose chase," he said, "cooked up by our friend Crochard. But even then I'd have got back if we hadn't punctured a tire when we were five miles from anywhere. I knew what was up, but there I was. Oh, he's made fools of us all, Lester."

"But, Godfrey," I said, "I can't understand even yet how he did it. Where is Pigot?"

"He's on the Savoie, bound and gagged under the berth in his stateroom. I could only gasp."

"And to think I didn't suspect!" added Godfrey bitterly. "We stood there and saw that yacht with the French flag walk away from us. We saw her put a man aboard the Savoie. We saw that man talking to Pigot!"

"Yes," I said breathlessly, "yes!"

"Well, that man was Crochard. He got Pigot into his stateroom; gave him a whiff of the same stuff he used on Simmonds, no doubt; put him out of the way under the berth, got into his clothes, made up his face, put on a wig—and all that while we were kicking our heels outside waiting for him. Crochard is an artist in that line, and he was, no doubt, thoroughly familiar with Pigot's appearance. He took the papers of Pigot, set his bag outside the stateroom door and then came out calmly to meet his dear friends of the press. You remember he said he would come today?"

"Yes."

"There's one consolation—it will break Grady."

"But Godfrey," I said, "if you could have seen those diamonds—those beautiful diamonds—and to think he should be able to get away with them from right under our noses!"

"It's pretty bad, isn't it? But there's no use crying over spilt milk. Lester," he added, in another tone, "I want you to be in your office at noon tomorrow—or, rather, today. I have got one more bomb to explode. Lester, and it's a big one. It will make you jump! Good night!"

MRS. WILLIAMS' LONG SICKNESS

Yields To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Elkhart, Ind.—"I suffered for fourteen years from organic inflammation, female weakness, pain and irregularities. The pains in my sides were increased by walking or standing on my feet and I had such awful bearing down feelings, was depressed in spirits and became thin and pale with dull, heavy eyes. I had six doctors from whom I received only temporary relief. I decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial and also the Sanative Wash. I have now used the remedies for four months and cannot express my thanks for what they have done for me.

"If these lines will be of any benefit to you have my permission to publish them." —Mrs. SADIE WILLIAMS, 455 James Street, Elkhart, Indiana.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

The ladies of the First Baptist church will hold an exchange at the John Morris hardware store next Saturday. Dressed chickens, pies and cakes etc., for sale. 2873.

OFFICIALS WARN GULLIBLE ONES

United States Treasury Department

Calls Attention to Big Financial Hoax Being Worked.

RANKS WITH "DOC." COOK

Concerns Alluring Story of $64,

644,000 Railroad Bonds Which Are Coming to Heirs.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Feb. 12—A hoax deserves to rank with Barnum's "Cardiff's giant" and Dr. Cook's mental discovery of the North Pole has just called forth a warning from the Treasury Department to credulous investors generally. It concerns a most alluring story of $64,644,000 interest since 1864, supposed to be and gathering dust in Uncle Sam's strong box and awaiting to be distributed among the heirs of Charles Durkee, one time Senator from Wisconsin, and territorial governor of Utah, who died in 1870.

More than ten years after Durkee's death, Leonard C. Blaisdell, his nephew by marriage, conceived the idea that the former Senator had at one time bought up an entire bond issue of first mortgage bonds of the Pacific railroads and had them turned over to the United States to guarantee completion of a transcontinental rail line. Col. F. A. Reeve, acting solicitor for the Treasury Department, believes that Blaisdell was merely suffering from some sort of hallucination, but since that time his story has been used to sell "stock" in the visionary claim. Blaisdell has not been heard of in Washington for years and officials here believe he is dead.

To give color to their scheme the promoters at one time brought suit in the Federal courts of Utah, but it was thrown out of court and in sustaining the lower tribunal on appeal Federal Judge Philips said:

"A syndicate of promoters was formed. They devised the scheme of selling shares of stock in the chances of success. It was represented that if the suits were won the result would be over $200,000,000 for division among the shareholders. These agents accordingly disposed of some shares at the proportion of 50 for $1 in money, and when the bait stated they offered the still more temptation of 100 shares for $1 in money, and the evidence shows that they succeeded in drawing from their dupes about $50,000."

For years after this there was nothing more heard of the claim but lately Col. Reeve has learned that some more 50 to 1 chances are being offered and that one man recently parted with $1,900 to the promoters.

Though names of these promoters are not made public it is said that they represent they are working for a contingent fee of 50 per cent. of the money recovered and need a few

Then, On the Other Hand-- If the Legislature Does Not Pass that Law---

Then on the other hand if the Legislature does not pass that law, compelling you to buy your buggies where you can get the most value for your money, you are not going to be contrary. You want all you can get for your money and it is your fault if you don't get it. You don't want to pay more for an article than your neighbor did. You don't have to, because you get the same treatment from us and the same price on a buggy your neighbor did. We play no favorites, run no cut sales, but you can buy buggies from us CHEAPER THAN YOU CAN BUY THEM AT ANY CUT SALE EVER ADVERTISED and you can do it every day in the year. You don't have to wait for a sale as our prices are always below the other fellow, no matter what discount he advertises. Remember this and come and see for yourself. The more buggies we sell the more we can buy and the more we can buy the cheaper we can buy them. That is the whole thing in a nut shell. Quantity counts when you go into the market to buy buggies or anything else for that matter. The large number of buggies we sell makes us large buyers and that is why we can make you a price on buggies that our competitors can not and will not meet; and the satisfaction our vehicles give is the reason we sell the most of them. Let's get together on this next buggy you have to buy. We can save you some money and at the same time make a little ourselves. We are willing. How do you feel about the matter?
